A Brief information about Ebamuke community primary school.

Ebamuke primary school is a community primary school in Tiko neighborhood, south west region of Cameroon. The community is dominated by poor peasant farmers with very low income. The community has a growing population of over 15000 inhabitants who are poor peasant farmers and internally displaced persons who have flee their area of origin due to the Anglophone crises or war. Over 95% of household in this community live below the UN poverty line of less than $2 a day. Ebamuke community primary school was created six (06) years ago to provide access to education to the poor, needy, orphans and internally displaced children who had no access before and/or who used to walk long distances to attend school. The school has a growing population of over 338 of which 178 girls and 160 boys based on the head teacher. The school is managed by members of the community (Parent Teacher Association) who are struggling to raise funds to pay six teachers of the school and to provide other basic needs for the school whenever possible.
